Kiwanis Club Told That Local Action Is Key To Progress

In a talk before the Kiwanis Club's Farm-City Week banquet audience Tuesday night, Roger Thompson of the Kentucky Power Company's Area Development Department stressed the need for local action in erasing the brand of "depressed area" from Eastern Kentucky.

A community does not "get an industry," Thompson told the Kiwanians and their guests, "it has to earn it."

He said the two big steps a community must take to earn an industry are: 1. organize for community and area improvement, with the purpose of upgrading community facilities, and 2. have a site for an industry, with the necessary facilities so that it is ready for development.

In the past, Thompson said, communities have taken action to meet existing problems, without planning for the future.

"Problems get into the crisis stage before solutions are sought."

"Let's stop listening to the prophets of doom," Thompson said. Highways, flood control measures and a growing number of industrial sites which have been secured promise a brighter industrial future for Eastern Kentucky, "if we plan."

Thompson cited the lack of jobs in Eastern Kentucky as the main reason young people are forced to leave and said that failure to plan ahead in anticipation of such difficulties was

Roger Thompson

A main reason for the problem, "Economy governs and limits a community's growth," Thompson said, adding that that is why Eastern Kentucky needs a diversified economy.

In giving examples of some of the things being done to help in community development, Thompson credited the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce and the State Department of Commerce with assisting in the industrial development activity through promotion.

Thompson showed his audience a collection of publications that advertise Kentucky as a land of industrial promise.

Upon complimenting Hazard's civic improvements over the past decade, Thompson said that even more could be done to prepare this community for the future.

More face-lifting is necessary he said, "less weeds and more grass."

"We must develop our own community and must be in a position to attract outside industries. Hazard will be what we make it."

Ex-Herald Editor Fred W. Luigart Back In State

Fred W. Luigart, Jr., former editor of the Hazard Herald and now a reporter for the Louisville Courier-Journal, has been transferred back to Kentucky from his Washington D. C. post of the past year.

He and his family now live in Lexington.

The Luigarts lived in Hazard from 1957 to 1963. In May of 1960, Luigart left his post with the Herald to become chief of the Courier-Journal's East Kentucky news bureau.

In October of last year, he moved from Hazard to Washington D. C., where he covered Kentucky news originating in the nation's capital.

Hazard, Highlands Game Here Friday Nite, 8 p.m.

Hazard's youthful Bulldogs take on an old nemesis tomorrow night when the Ft. Thomas Highlands Bluebirds pay a return visit to Collins Field.

The Bulldogs' starting offense unit has just two seniors—guard Tommy Manning and fullback Freddy Barnett. Eight juniors and one sophomore round the starting eleven.

Hazard's strong point is its defensive unit which yielded 11 touchdowns this fall for an average of one per game.

There is one injury in the Hazard camp that could hamper the Bulldogs tomorrow night. 130 pound junior tackle O. J. Rowe has a knee injury and may not start against Highlands if not junior Vernon Cooper will get the opening call.

Game time tomorrow night is 8 p.m., with the winner playing in the Class AA finals November 28th in Lexington.

Courthouse Gets A Skeleton

The construction of the new Perry County Court House reached another obvious milestone last week as workmen installed the first of the steel girders that will form the skeleton of the $800,000 structure. As the girders go up, lifted into place by a crane, bulldozers and workmen continue to excavate and haul away earth in trucks, as shown above.

Accrediting Team Coming To Survey Hazard High

Next Monday and Tuesday, November 23 and 24, a committee of 15 people from various member high schools and colleges in Kentucky and representing the Southern Association of Colleges, Secondary, and Elementary Schools will visit the Hazard High School to examine all phases of the school program.

The Southern Association is a regional accrediting Association that encompasses most of the Southern States. The Hazard High School has been accredited by the Association since 1924.

Each year a member school fills out an extensive report showing how it is measuring up to the standards set by the Association and it is on the basis of this report that the school continues its accreditation. At least once every ten years the faculty of a member school makes an extensive self-evaluation.

The Faculty and Staff of the Hazard High School have been conducting such a self-evaluation last year and the opening minutes of this school year. It is in the self-evaluation by the faculty that the chief value of the process rests.

After this self evaluation is completed, the Southern Association sends in the visiting committee, which goes over the Evaluation Criteria, visits the classes and sees the school at work in all areas.

The committee will be headed by Mr. Russell Below, College of Education, University of Kentucky, Lexington, Kentucky, who is the chairman of all Southern Association work in Kentucky.

One of the chief difficulties at the Hazard High School has been an overcrowded school, with an enrollment of 580, and a lack of classroom space. Last summer, acting on the recommendation,

Bell County Gets Clothing Factory

A garment manufacturing plant will soon be located in Middlesboro, it was announced this week.

A division of the Kayser-Roth Company of New York will occupy a building constructed by the Middlesboro Industrial Foundation, a non-profit organization made up Middlesboro citizens.

The building will be constructed on a site purchased last year by the Foundation. It is estimated that 6 months will be required to build and equip the 60,000 square foot structure.

In preparation for the arrival of a new industry in Middlesboro, an advance training project will be set up in the Jaycee Civic-Center in January, to train prospective employees.

The Middlesboro Industrial Commission began working last April to get the factory. The project represents a joint effort of the Middlesboro Chamber of Commerce and the local Industrial Commission, begun in 1962.

4-H Youths Win Herald Prizes

Two Perry County boys have been awarded checks of $15 and $10 from the Hazard Herald Helping Fund as outstanding 4-H club gardeners for 1964.

Receiving the Helping Fund's first prize of $15 for the best garden was Tommy Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Campbell of Yerkes.

Second place award of $10 went to Stevie Dickerson, grandson of Oris Dickerson of Busy.

The prizes were presented to the boys by Circuit Judge and Kiwanis Club president Don A. Ward at the Kiwanis Club's Farm-City Week banquet Tuesday night at the Kentucky Power Company auditorium.

This was the second time Perry County youths have been so honored by the Herald Helping Fund. The Fund was established two years ago by money plants, two packages of greens and two packages of melons or cantaloupes, at a total investment from the fund of $400.

The result of this investment was the following produce: 510 pounds of beans, 476 bushels of tomatoes, 1722 dozen ears of sweet corn, 1228 melons and over 200 pounds of greens.

The program was supervised by Perry County Agent Paul Keen.

Hazard - Highlands Meet Friday Night

By Monte Gross

Bluebirds, Bluebird, Bluebirds. What else can you say? Mighty Highlands is coming to town.

Three times before Hazard and the Bluebirds have played and three times the Bulldogs have wound up with nothing but a mouthful of crow.

In 1959, Highlands dumped an out-manned Hazard Squad 33-19. The next year, in what has to be called the most exciting game of the series, the Bluebirds waylaid the Bulldogs 26-13 in a contest much closer than the score indicates. The loss was Hazard's only one of the season. In 1961, the Bluebirds routed what is considered by many Bulldog fans the finest Hazard has ever had 34-0 at Highlands, for their first loss. Even Highlands was surprised at the ease of the victory.

Fl. Thomas has been another to Hazard's proud winning tradition. Twice Hazard should have won but at crucial points failed. Of course, one could say that a good team makes its breaks.

Twice after defeating Hazard, Ft. Thomas went on to capture the State AA Championship, in 1960 and 1961.

This year the Highlands credentials are most impressive, having swept through ten games without a defeat. They have averaged well over 30 points per game. Talented Halfback Jim Vohres is the state's leading scorer.

As in years past, the Bulldogs stack up as a team that could defeat the Bluebirds. Physically, Hazard should be able to cope with them as always, but Highlands has never really whipped Hazard physically. They have outsmarted them by knowing more about the Bulldogs than vice-versa. Players from three years ago stated that Highlands would call the Hazard play as the Bulldogs came up to the line.

In order to defeat this kind of effort, the Bulldogs will have to rise to the occasion by total concentration, besides outflanking Highlands. They will also have to outthrust them, second and third effort will have to be instinct. Hazard's young, but aggressive Bulldogs have a great challenge, but they can surmount it by using their minds as well as their brawn.

HOLCOMB'S FIRST IN MEN'S LEAGUE

WITH STEWART'S RUNNING A CLOSE SECOND

By Marie Osborne

When the men of the Commercial League began their bowling on Tuesday night at 6:00 p.m. several spectators were on hand.

As the bowling continued lanes 3 and 4 seemed to be the center of attraction. Halcomb's Shoe Service and Stewart's Construction Company were bowling at a sizzling pace. Halcomb's, in first place, determined to hold onto first place position and Stewart's Construction Company putting forth all effort to wrench this coveted first place position from Halcomb's.

Both teams, studded with very capable bowlers, were "burning the lanes", and when all smoke had cleared after completion of the three-game series, Stewart's had won two games out of the three.

The team standings are as follows: 1. Halcomb's Shoe Service - Won 2 1/2 - Lost 7 1/2; 2. Stewart's Construction Company - Won 24 - Lost 9; 3. Betsy Ross - Won 22 - Lost 11.

Stewart's Construction Company walked away with high pinfall for the three game series with a total pinfall of 2567;

Halcomb's Shoe Service came in second in this department with 2517 total pins and the Nameless 5 was third with a total pinfall of 2476.

The Commercial League is made up of many excellent bowlers. Breaking the 200-mark is anything but rare in this league. To mention a few men accomplishing this Tuesday night Tommy Fields rolling a 214, Kermit Caudill bowled a 213 and H. Hammonds had a 204.

Nancy Hyde Wins Honors

By Marie Osborne

In Perry Ladies League Tuesday night, at 8:30 p.m., Nancy Hyde walked away with the honors. Nancy rolled three games of the same score, a feat rarely accomplished, and a very skillful act.

To our knowledge, this is the first time this has occurred in the Perry Ladies League. Nancy's performance on the lanes calls for recognition from W.I.B.C. Congratulations, Nancy Dawahare's Team had high pinfall for the three-game series with a total of 2007. Second in this department went to Ken. tucky Power Company with 1977 and third spot was taken by General Telephone Company with 1943.

The Dawahare's Team also had the high game, teamwise, with an even 700 pins. General Telephone Company was second in high team game with 669 and right on their heels was the pinfall of Etta Rose's Beau. ty Shop with 663 for one game, and also Kentucky Power Company with the identical total pinfall for one game.

Two sisters were having a friendly duel on the lanes for the high game score, June Patterson bested her sister Louise by the very narrow margin of three pins for the high game honors.

So far as what team shall emerge in the first-place spot at the end of the season is certainly anyone's guess. Let's continue the competitiveness and the outstanding clean sportsmanship so far displayed by all teams in our League.

Nancy K. Roberts, R. N., Finds Job Rewarding At Harlan ARH School of Professional Nursing

A light flashed on the call system at the nurses' station. Mr. Slodowski in 504 needed assistance. A pert young nurse, in starched white uniform, walked rapidly down the corridor. Her face reflected concern.

Nurse Roberts always demonstrated deep concern for the welfare of her patients. This was evident in the way she cared for them.

As Nancy moved toward 504 many thoughts crossed her mind. "I hope there are no complications," she whispered to herself. Mr. Slodowski had just returned from surgery, and there was the ever-present possibility of hemorrhage.

It was apparent as Nancy approached Mr. Slodowski's bedside that he was having pain. Within moments after she administered a sedative, Mr. Slodowski relaxed and rested. Nurse Roberts breathed a sigh of relief.

The pressure and tension packed pace are a part of a nurse's daily routine, and twenty-one year old Nancy K. Roberts, R. N., found it hard to realize that only a few short months had passed since she waited anxiously to step to the platform of the huge auditorium and receive her nurse's cap and pin. Nancy's knees had trembled slightly when her name was announced. She also recalled the elation that came over her when she realized her diploma climaxed three long years of hard work.

Now, a registered nurse on the faculty of the Appalachian Regional Hospitals School of Professional Nursing in Harlan, Ky., she was actively engaged in the practice of her chosen profession.

Unlike many young girls, Nancy had not experienced a life-long desire to become a nurse. "I have always been very interested in people, especially children, and had always thought I would go into teaching," she states.

However, during her junior year in high school, Nancy had heart surgery. "I suppose the contact I had had with the nurses while in the hospital had an influence on me," she recalled. "It was about this time that I first started to think of nursing as a career."

"Since I grew up in a small West Virginia coal mining community of less than 500, and had never really been on my own, I was naturally a little apprehensive about starting school. And, although I was worried about being away from home, I was more concerned about what to expect as a student nurse."

"I soon found that the life of a student nurse is not easy. Some did not make it. It was never any fun to see someone 'wash out' of the program. But I soon learned that for those who really wanted to succeed, it was not tremendously difficult. And I truly wanted to become a nurse."

Nancy Roberts is intensely dedicated. This became obvious when she told of the loss of her first patient, an elderly gentleman with terminal cancer. As she described how he had slipped away, she quickly brushed at a tear hoping that no one would notice.

"While we were in training, our instructors continually stressed that while the basic techniques of nursing are essential, just as important is genuine understanding of our patients. We are urged to treat the patient as an individual and to develop close patient-nurse relationships. In many cases, this is the key to a speedy recovery."

Nancy K. Roberts

covery. I know if I became a hospital patient, I would respond more quickly to this type of patient-centered care."

Nancy plans to remain on the staff at the Harlan ARH hospital for at least a year. "This will provide me with some very valuable experience. After that, I don't know, perhaps I'll go back to school for my BS degree or take a position at one of the other ARH hospitals in Kentucky, Virginia or West Virginia."

Whatever Nancy Roberts decides to do, she is likely to succeed because "to me, nursing is an exciting challenge."

Nancy, who grew up in Yohyn, W. Va., feels that there are many young people in the Appalachian region who would make excellent nurses. "The opportunities are unlimited for an exciting and challenging career."

Nancy received her nurses training from the ARH School of Professional Nursing at Harlan. Originally started in 1957 by the Miners Memorial Hospital Association, it is now a part of Appalachian Regional Hospitals, which operates 10 non-profit community hospitals in Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia. The school's program is designed to prepare qualified students for professional careers in nursing.

Although the school is small—80 have graduated since it started—it is recognized as having one of the finest programs of nursing education and training in Kentucky.

"Our program is growing rapidly," says Irene E. DeMara, R. N., director of the school. "We graduated our largest class this year and we have 43 new students in their preparatory training at the University of Kentucky Southeast Center at Cumberland."

Situated in the midst of the so-called depressed area of Kentucky, it is the only school of professional nursing in the region. Most of the students come from the immediate area. "We do get them from other places throughout the country, however," says Miss DeMara. "I think one reason is the cost involved. Our tuition is less than other schools in Kentucky and is two or three times less than most schools in the country."

The ARH School of Professional Nursing is the only school that gives a monthly stipend as well as providing uniforms, books, room and board and other educational needs.

Miss DeMara speaks enthusiastically of the opportunities for professional nursing school graduates. "Nursing," she says, "is a career with long-range benefits. The increasing demand for qualified nurses insures a secure future. There are many well-paid, full-time positions available."

It is significant that over 90 percent of the school's graduates first take positions in the ARH chain of hospitals. Although many have left since the first class graduated in 1960, over one-third still remain in the area. The others are scattered all over the world this is the key to a speedy recovery.

London to Tokyo.

Miss DeMara, in stressing the need for nurses, said, "The shortage of trained nurses is acute. We could place eight to ten graduates in each of our 10 community hospitals every year."

Miss DeMara quickly added, "More important, however, than just filling this shortage, is making sure that a high standard educational program prepares well-trained, capable nurses."

GIVE THEM
A FAITH
TO LIVE BY...

Our times may be unique—both in the fears we and our children must face, and the conflicting distractions around us. Is religious faith enough to cope with our troubled world? The answer is this: if you care, the same place where your faith is built can be made a rallying point for the kind of realistic human involvement that can produce a stirring change—for the better—in your community, in the world, in your heart. Show the way. Give them a Faith to live by. This week, go to worship—and put your Faith to work, all week long.

Turkey Can Be Dangerous If Not Handled Correctly

The season of Thanksgiving and Christmas is the most joyful and festive of the year, and many families are already making plans to entertain family and friends. At this time of year, most homemakers are planning that extra special dinner with turkey and dressing. "In your hurry and excitement, don't forget to take the proper precautions in cooking and storing holiday foods and leftovers," warns Dr. Lyndon F. Combs, Perry County Health Officer.

During the holiday season, turkey is probably the most popular bird around, but he can also be a dangerous bird if he is not handled correctly. Food poisoning, caused by improper cooking and handling of frozen turkey, occurs in large numbers every year during this season. The danger is especially high in school lunchrooms or other establishments where large quantities of food are prepared.

Extra care must be taken in the preparation, cooking, and storing of turkey because of its large size. If you buy your turkey early, be sure to freeze it immediately. If it is to be prepared within 48 hours after it was purchased, you may refrigerate it at 33 to 38 degrees. Ordinarily it takes much longer to defrost a turkey than any other kind of meat. The preferred method is to thaw it in the refrigerator for two or three days until you are sure that it is completely defrosted. Another method that can be used is to cook the frozen turkey taken directly from the freezer, doubling the cooking time for a thawed turkey.

Before cooking, obtain a meat thermometer and insert it into the center of the stuffing or the thigh. Cook the turkey in a 300 to 325 degree oven the required length of time until the temperature of the stuffing reaches 165 degrees or the temperature in the center of the thigh reaches 190 degrees. Proper cooking times for turkey are: 3 to 3½ hours for an 8 to 10 pound; 3½ to 4 hours for a 10 to 14 pound turkey; 4 to 4½ hours for a 14 pound turkey; and 4½ to 5 hours for an 18 to 20 pound turkey. If you are cooking the dressing and turkey together one day to be served on the following day, the dressing should be removed and refrigerated separately.

Since large amounts of food are usually prepared for holiday meals, leftovers must be taken care of. Then refrigerate leftover turkey or other fowl, remove all dressing and wrap separately. Place the meat in shallow pans rather than in

Middlesboro Gets A Factory

Middlesboro, largest town in Bell County, has set an example in attracting industry to the Kentucky mountains that Hazard would do well to study.

As a result of local planning, determination, foresight and initiative, a garment manufacturing plant will soon be located there.

The coming of the factory represents the culmination of long hours of work and careful laying of groundwork by Middlesboro. The most obvious of their efforts is the factory site the town has made available, and the building it will construct and present to the company which has agreed to locate in Middlesboro.

By way of further preparation for the coming industry, an advance training project for prospective employees will be set up in Middlesboro's Jaycee Civic Center in January.

In the competition for new industries, Middlesboro has several distinct natural and semi-natural advantages over most towns in the mountains, including Hazard. The town is located on a major North-South traffic artery. A national historical park stands as an attractive tourist lure at nearby Cumberland Gap. Two colleges are located near Middlesboro, Union College at Barbourville and Lincoln Memorial University at Harrogate, Tennessee. The juncture of 3 states—Kentucky, Virginia and Tenn.—at Cumberland Gap three miles away gives Middlesboro close ties to each of those states. And, the Cumberland River Basin is wide and fertile, in sharp contrast to the rugged hostility of such valleys as the North Fork of the Kentucky.

But none of these natural attractions would have meant much had the people of Middlesboro relied on them alone to bring in the garment industry. The real source of Middlesboro's success is the energy and initiative of her people, who had the intelligence to capitalize on their advantages. Their willingness to make a personal investment in the factory, by providing the land and the building to the company, was a gesture of faith and confidence in their own community. That is the kind of community attitude an industrial concern looks for when it seeks new locations.

Isolated deeper in the mountains, Hazard does not have many of Middlesboro's advantages. But that does not justify the half hearted and disorganized approach this community is taking in trying to attract industry. Why doesn't Hazard, mobilized by its acknowledge leaders, get down to business about this thing, as Middlesboro has done?

Hazard must become willing to take its own first step, to secure a good industrial site and construct a building which can be offered free to the proper industrial concern. Only when it shows a willingness to invest of itself will Hazard deserve the industry it cries for.

Counties, Cities Need Each Other

Agriculture is still our greatest asset. A recent survey showed that the value of farms in the United States is more than the total of all the giant corporations combined.

The farmer, or, as in Perry County, the rural man in general, often a miner, needs the city for a place to buy the products and services, the modern up-to-date equipment he needs, and to provide him with a market for the products he must sell.

Just as important, the city needs a prosperous farming (or farm-mining) community as a reservoir of customers for its business. It is certainly to the advantage of the city resident and businessman to help the farmer get the best prices possible for the products he raises. The interests of the two are interlocked and both profit when they work together for the good of all.

The objective of all of us should be to make Perry County a prosperous and friendly neighborhood and to promote good fellowship among all of the citizens of the area. Communication between citizens of Hazard and citizens of Perry County has long been too weak.

The week of November 20-26 has been designated as Farm-City Week in Kentucky and across the nation. Plan now to take part in the activities which will promote friendship and a better understanding between the people of the city and the county.

It takes only a little effort to be friendly and the dividends can't be measured in dollars and cents or other worldly goods. You will find the effort is slight and the rewards many when you sit down and exchange ideas with persons whose view may differ from your own.

WHAT A WAY TO GO!

Johnson vs. City Hall . . . Again

To The Editor:

In the passing of many events, sometimes one is astounded by the weird decisions concerning some of them.

One of them is the sewage moving over the sidewalk at 152 Memorial Drive for some time, which should have been corrected by the city authorities. It is being passed by, for a so-called quarter violation.

That so-called "quarter violation" falls upon a customer not paying the $1.00 garbage service.

That customer's garbage has been 100 per cent sanitarily burned 35 years, yet after the water and sanitation bill last month six times because the $1.00 for garbage was not included, resulting in customer's water service cut off, meter removed, penalty added and $1.50 in addition to restoring the water service.

Someone said "there will be days like that" and they are here now.

An Open Sewer

The time has come to put a stop to the sewage that flows on Memorial Drive.

You've noticed it, haven't you? The damp place on the Drive that smells so bad? It has been there for months. Children walk through it daily on their way to school.

The blame for the mess is hard to place, but after study, it is hard to see how anyone involved escapes blame. That would include the City government, the County Health Department, and those residents on Memorial Drive and Broadway who are responsible for the above-ground sewage in the first place.

It all began when one property owner unintentionally broke open a neighbor's sewer line during some excavation on his own property.

The neighbor thinks the man who did the excavation ought to repair the sewer line. But the latter maintains that since the sewage originates on the former's property, he has no responsibility to repair the line. The Health Department ordered both parties to do something about it, and the argument eventually wound up in City Police Court.

The Court ordered the parties to correct the situation within 24 hours. The neighbor who did the excavating stopped the sewage from flowing through a pipe on his land and onto the Drive by blocking the pipe. The other party, needing an outlet for his sewage, merely opened the line above ground on his own property, with the result that instead of sewage flowing across the excavator's property through a pipe, it now flows through his yard, and out onto Memorial Drive.

The Health Department said it did its job by sending the two parties to Court. The Court assumes it did its job by ordering the neighbors to take some action, and by fining one who did not obey the Court order. The City government says it has no authority to go on a man's private land and spend the taxpayer's money to repair a broken sewer. And each property owner continues to blame the other, while the sewage continues to flow.

What is going to happen? It is hard to tell. All parties look pretty childish at this point, and the City government and the Health Department appear to be passing the buck. Meanwhile, Hazard citizens must put up with an open sewer in their midst, for children to walk through.

It appears that a meeting of minds is possible here. If a solution isn't forthcoming by someone's initiative, then Hazard citizens are justified in appealing to the State Health Department for advice.

Preserving A Fire Truck

The campaign to preserve Hazard's first fire truck as a museum-piece is moving right along, according to attorney G. C. Wilson, who is spearheading the drive to salvage it. Individuals and businesses are responding in an enthusiastic manner with donations that will build a shelter for the ancient fire-fighting machine.

Already over forty years old, the machine is a remarkably preserved relic of a Hazard that is now gone forever. And if the truck is interesting as a curio now, think how much more fascinating it will become as time goes by, say in fifty years from now.

The fire truck project has demonstrated the willingness of Hazard people, both as individuals on the street and as a business community too, to get behind an enterprise that is constructive for the community as a whole.

Might it not be possible, once the future of the truck is assured, to increase the scope of that kind of project? What if similar efforts were put into the gathering of other historic relics that help to tell the history of Hazard, and Perry County? A museum featuring old tools, furniture, clothing, weapons, documents and samples of natural resources that abound in the area would find a fascinated audience immediately, as well as do a favor for future generations who will be curious to know what we, and our forefathers, were like way back there in the Twentieth Century.

Superintendent Reports On Status Of Hazard School Facilities

(Editor's Note: Mr. Eversole's excellent report on the status of our city schools was written for last week's Herald, during National Education Week. For reasons of space, it was held over until this week so that the entire article could be printed intact).

As most of you know, this is National Education Week, and as a matter of public relations it is my earnest desire to give the patrons of the Hazard City Schools a report on physical facilities improvements that have been made in the schools through the joint efforts of the taxpayers of the district and the State of Kentucky. It will also be my purpose to look into the future with you and propose other physical improvements that need to be made when the money is available. A school system can make improvements unless the taxpayer and patrons of the school district give their complete support, and may I say on a note of appreciation, that the people of my district have done just that through all the years I have been your Superintendent. We must live within our income, and if we seem to move slowly you must realize that both myself and the Board of Education do move surely within a long range plan to make needed improvements to provide safe and beautiful surroundings for your children.

In review, you will remember that the Minimum Foundation Program was enacted in 1954 and financed in 1956, which was a partnership between the local and state government to provide a minimum program of education for every child with no restriction for those districts who wanted to go beyond the program to provide not only better salaries for teachers, but also physical improvements. Contained in the program was an allotment for Capital Outlay contributed to jointly by the state and local district to provide better physical equipment and also some of this money could be used to build buildings.

It was at this time that we began to move out in a long range improvement program which is about 2/3 finished. At that time we had the Lower Broadway Elementary Building, the Upper Broadway Elementary (H.B.E.), Lothair Elementary, Liberty H. S. and Elementary and the Hazard High School, most of them old buildings and in need of replacement. We had at this time a tax of $1.50 on the $100.00 for common school purposes and a sinking fund tax of 25c on the $100.00 which was being used to retire the bonds on the above buildings which have since been paid off. The good citizens of this district through their interest in better buildings have since that time voted a 35c building tax and in addition have re-voted the 25c sinking fund tax twice.

The picture today is that you have made it possible that we have built together the modern Walkertown Elementary School in 4 stages—containing 21 classrooms, a library, cafeteria, offices and service rooms. The Eversole Elementary has been built containing 27 classrooms, a large cafeteria, library, offices and service rooms. The Lothair Elementary School has been re-lighted and a lunchroom added. The Hazard High School has had new restrooms added and all available space opened for classroom use. This has not been done without assuming a sizable bonded indebtedness. The present schedule of indebtedness of 1964-65 reads as follows:

Revenue Bonds (35c Building Tax and Capital Outlay Fund)
$ 123,000	Walkertown Elementary
559,000	Eversole Elementary and Walkertown
42,000	Memorial Gym
$ 724,000 Total Revenue Bonds
Voted Bonds (Received by 25c tax)
$ 48,000	Walkertown Elementary
96,000	Lothair, Walkertown and Eversole Elementary
$ 144,000 Total Voted Bonds
$ 724,000 Outstanding
$ 724,000 Total Revenue
$ 144,000 Total Voted
$ 868,000 Total indebtedness of the District as of this year.

In addition to the buildings that have been built, a great deal of improvements in equipment and facilities have been made. Most of the seating has been replaced with modern units and this will go on apace. Central Libraries have been provided and their improvement is steady each year. In co-operation with the Federal government under the N.D.E.A. Program (50% of the cost paid by the government) the following improvements have been made:

General Science Laboratory (Hazard High School) re-modeled and equipped.

Physics and Chemistry Laboratory (Hazard High School) Re-modeled and equipped second to none except for space. Elementary Science Laboratory—Walkertown—equipment and remodeling.

Elementary Science Laboratory—Eversole School—Re-modeled and equipped.

Modern Language Laboratory—Hazard High School—room remodeled and completely equipped. An extensive visual aids improvement program has been started this year with the addition of overhead projectors, strip film projectors, opaque projectors and production machines for making transparencies. Some globes and maps have been provided also under this visual aid program.

All of these improvements both in equipment and buildings have been made with the full approval not only of the local Board of Education, but by the State Department of Education as relates to:

- (1) Instruction
- (2) Building and Grounds

(3) Finance Division

If a school system with little money is to make needed physical improvements in buildings and equipment, a long range plan is needed because we cannot afford any expensive mistakes. This is the reason that state approval is needed for remainder. Our local district does not provide enough money to interfere with local control, for I would remind you that our all steps that are taken and this is certainly good and in no way schools are operated on a partnership basis with the state providing about 78% of the money and the local district the remainder. To make the needed improvements in equipment and buildings only on a long range basis, so therefore, we must move as we can for certainly we respect the desires of the taxpayers.

And now for a look into the future, to evaluate when new buildings can be constructed and to enumerate some of the needs of the school district in terms of equipment.

To be sure we were moving in the right direction, the Hazard Board of Education requested the State Department of Education to send a team here to make a school facilities survey. This team visited with us during the summer and after making an extensive survey and gathering data, visited all the buildings and became thoroughly acquainted with our problems and the location of our student population. The completed document will probably be ready in January and will make recommendations which will project our need for and use of buildings for the next twenty-five to fifty years.

It is my feeling in talking to this team in a final conference that some of their recommendations will be as follows: (all contingent on when money becomes available and the status of pupil population at that future date).

- (1) Replacement of the Hazard High School Building.
- (2) Renovation or replacement of the Lothair Elementary School, depending on pupil population at that future time.
- (3) Building four rooms at the Eversole School that were not built because of lack of money at the time of construction.

These will not be all their recommendations, but by far the most expensive and hardest to do.

Let us take a look at when we might possibly move into accomplishing these recommendations. As I have told you previously, we now have a bonded debt, voted and revenue of $868,000. If we maintain the present tax structure, and state aid, and bound by constitutional limits we cannot for the present make any move as we must pay our debt down.

Ten years from now it is my considered opinion that we would have our bonded debt paid down so that we might issue $200,000 in voted bonds and $475,000 in Revenue Bonds or a total of $675,000. At the end of 12 years this combined figure of voted and Revenue Bonds would increase our potential to $735,000 either of which would allow us to move out and complete the majority of the proposed recommendations.

Our most pressing need for the present is to operate the Hazard High School with the space available until such time as it can be replaced. This building built in 1924 is inadequate for our present program and is badly overcrowded. All space is being used and acting on the recommendation of the State Department and the Southern Association a staggered schedule was instituted this year to make more classroom space available. Finally to take a look at equipment needs that should be done as fast as the money becomes available.

(1) To continue the projects under N.D.E.A. (50 pct. supplement government) to provide more visual aids such as overhead projectors, strip film projectors and films, opaque projectors, screens, tapes, globes and maps: Under a new section of the N.D.E.A. law this use of equipment can be expanded into the areas of English and Social Studies.

(2) A new biology science laboratory in the high school, more science laboratories in the elementary school. (This can also be done under the N.D.E.A. Law.)

(3) More books for central libraries and room libraries. (The library is the heart of the school.)

(4) As most of you know, the implementation of the State educational T.V. network is just around the corner. It will behoove us to as fast as possible get the 1. necessary lines and equipment, antennas and power equipment placed in our building. 2. Acquire T.V. Console Sets and make studies of the areas we have that could be used for T.V. even if some remodeling was necessary.

This project could be accomplished through a joint effort by the Board, the N.D.E.A., PTA Groups and Civic Groups.

None of these recommendations on buildings and equipment covers all our needs, but does point up the fact that we do have plans that cannot all be done at once and then only as the local patrons furnish the support.

As you will notice, I have confined myself to a discussion of physical facilities and equipment and remind you that we are also moving ahead in all other areas that pertain to good instruction.

We have made progress and look to the future with confidence. We thank you, the citizens of the district for your unified support and hope we may continue to deserve it.

It is my hope you can visit our schools this week or any time that you care to see your schools in operation.

Signed,

R. G. Eversole

Troy K. Dean Takes Part In "Steel Pike"

Marine Private First Class Troy K. Dean, son of Mr. Ted R. Dean of Hazard, Ky., is visiting ports in the European area following participation in the largest amphibious combat training exercise in the Atlantic since World War II.

He is serving with the Third Battalion, Sixth Regiment, Second Marine Division, Camp Lejeune, N. C.

The operation, called "Steel Pike", featured U. S. and Spanish Marines landing from land, ing craft and helicopters of a combined U. S. Spanish Fleet of 94 vessels which included ships of the United States Military Sea Transport Service and chartered ships of the U. S. Merchant Fleet.

The mock assault on the beaches of Southern Spain was staged by Marines of the Second Marine Aircraft Wing and Force Troops, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, along with a battalion of Spanish Marines.

"Steel Pike" showed the ability of the U. S. and Allied amphibious forces to rapidly transport large numbers of troops and all their equipment, get them ashore and maintain them for as long as necessary. It also trained the forces of both countries in conducting joint operations.

VA Questions And Answers

Q—My husband died as a result of injuries received in World War II. He obtained a GI loan during his lifetime, which is now paid off. Am I, as his widow, also eligible for a loan?

A—Yes. Any widow of a World War II or Korean Conflict veteran may be eligible for a GI loan if the husband's death was service-connected. The fact that the veteran may have obtained a loan does not affect the widow's eligibility.

Q—I am a member of the police force, and I find that there are some restrictions in commercial life insurance policies because of this. Is this true also of my GI life insurance?

A—The restrictions you mention are those imposed because law enforcement is considered a hazardous occupation. There are no such restrictions on GI insurance. The veteran may engage in any occupation, no matter how hazardous, without affect on the terms of the policy.

Q—I pay premiums on my GI insurance quarterly, and I am concerned because I have not received my premium due notice. I feel uneasy about waiting any longer to make this payment. Should I wait until I receive this notice?

A—By all means pay your premiums when they become due, even if you do not receive the premium due notice. Remember you have a 31-day grace period from the due date. Be certain to include your policy number with your remittance.

Grade Tournament To Be Held In Combs Gymnasium

By H. C. Robertson

A meeting was held in the Education Building Saturday at 9 a.m. to determine the time and place of the Perry County Grade Tournament. All games will be played at the Combs Elementary Gymnasium Saturday, November 28, and Sunday, December 5.

The first games of the tournament will begin at 10:30 on November 28, and conclude in the afternoon. The finals and semi-finals will be played December 5.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. Monroe Fugate, supervisor. The principals and coaches defeated a plan to raise the age limits of the players by a vote of four to three.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Whisman attended the Revival Meeting at the Combs Methodist Church Thursday night and visited his daughter, Mrs. Don Fugate.

Janice Feltner has been discharged from the Hazard Appalachian Regional Hospital.

The best Revival Meeting in the Combs Methodist Church for years closed Friday evening at the 7 p.m. service. There was a communion service, a baptismal service and eleven additions to the church. Rev. Herbert Godsey was the evangelist and Rev. Joe Gibson the pastor.
